WINEMAKING TEAM

Rudy Marchesi, side-by-side with Head Winemaker Stephen Webber, work closely to shepherd our grapes through the evolution from fruit to wine. The approach to winemaking focuses on producing wines that are an expression of where they are grown, while ensuring they are approachable, food friendly and structured for graceful aging. From harvest dates to fermentation vessels and temperatures, from cultivating our own yeasts to selecting the perfect barrels for aging, each decision is thoughtfully made with one end goal in mind: To craft wines that reflect the place where the grapes are grown, offering freshness, liveliness and complexity, while showcasing the best characteristics of each variety.

“We farm our vineyards using Biodynamic® and organic practices and create wines that honor the land and traditions—from root to bottle, from our land to you.”
